Finally the services of Dr Dudgeon were sought for, and when he had examined the patient, he pronounced the wounds perfectly amenable to treatment, but could not guarantee the recovery of the injured eye. From this, the great utility of Western physicians, and the utter uselessness of native practitioners will be readily seen.

THE Japan Mail asserts that there is no uncasiness felt here with regard to an influx of Chinese under the revised treaties, for the simple reason that the revised treaties will add nothing to the Chinese in Japan. GUNS FOR FORMOSA AND THE PESCADORES

-We find the following in the Peking

Guzette of 3rd inst .: - Three years ago, says sanctioned the construction of forts to be armed with heavy guns at Keelung, Tamsui, Takow and the Pescadores. In pursuance of this arrangement, the memorialist made an agreement with the British firm Jardine, Matheson & Co. that they should supply thirty-one steel breech-loading Armstrong gans of a new pattern. The price was fixed at Tis. 600,000, to be paid in three instalments, and included the cost of carriages, projectiles, packing cases and freight. A contract to the above effect was signed by both parties, the memorialist being represented by the Commissary of Ordnauce and the Tamsui Magistrate. The agreement was reported to the Admiralty Board at Peking ; and the Chinese Minister in London was requested, through the Tsungli-Yamen, to have the guns inspected by one of his staff before their shipment. As it was difficult to construct a suitable landing stage at the Pescadores, a further agreement was made with the contractors that for an additional sum of Tls. 5,000 they should supply two lighters which could be used in disembarking the pieces. It has now been reported to the memorialist by that between last summer and the present spring, the cannon have all been landed by the contractors, and have been inspected found in good condition and taken over. Payment has also been made for them or the proper dates in accordance with the

SANITARY BOARD The Sanitary Board met this afternoon.

There were present:-The Surveyor Ge-General Gordon, Vice-Prasident; Mr J. ly above the keel, extending aft from about J. Francis, Mr. N. J. Ede, Dr. Ho Kai, Dr. (Hon. N. G. Mitchell-Innes), Hon. Wung Shing, The Colonial Surgeon (Dr Ayres), THE GOVERNMENT PROPOSE AN ARMISTICE.

The following letter from the Colonial Secretary was read :-Colonial Secretary's Office, 28th August, 1889.

To the President of the Sanitary Board. I am directed by the Governor to culties which have recently arisen be tween the Board and the Department of Foreign Office, July 1.—The Queen has the Surveyor General His Excellency been graciously pleased to appoint Clement supposes it to be now universally acknow Francis Romilly Allen, Esq., now Her ledged that sanitary affairs ought not to be

The following is the Tea Export since our His Excellency understands that the chief point of difficulty is in connection with the public drains. The recent decision of one of the magistrates apparently indicates that, when private drains are passed by the Sanitary Survever of the Board as having no sanitary objection, the fact of their having been so passed empowers the owner who has made the application to connect them with the sewer whenever he may bee fit. This decision, though contrary to the advice which His Excellency has received, must of course, until there should be an opportunity of testing its validity in a higher court, be regarded as the law; but His Excellency trusts that the Board, or at least a majority of its members, will agree with him in regarding as inexpedient the use of the decision in such a manner as to afford the Surveyor General no opportunity of expressing the objections Le may have to any particular connection with a public sewer, the sanction of which is in contemplation.

> Further, His Excellency feels sure that learn that a connection with a public sewer, which the Sanitary Surveyor has been ordered by the Board to sanction, presumably with the object of giving it immediate effect, is open to this serious objection, namely, that the culvert with which it is intended to make commexion is not in a condition to receive sewage without grave sanitary danger to the troops, the culvert in question having been some time ago condemned as a sewer > in consequence of the strong protests on the part of the military authorities, and measures having teen taken on consequence for the exclusion from it of verything except storm water. One of the chief causes of the difficulties which have arisen, His Excellency understands, is the present state of uncertainty as to the system of the future drainage of the colony. The late Surveyor General has recommended the separate system for the whole town. and the Engineer employed by those opposed to his view, while concurring as to the expediency of this system for a portion of the town, preferred the present system for the remainder. While the the separate system has. His Excellency is bound to suppose, the stronger technical reasons in its favour, there are no doubt considerations derived from the habits of the Chinese that places it at least within the bounds of possibility that Mr Leigh's view Surveyor of the Board is naturally reluctant to sauction connections which are inconsistbetter one, and the one more likely to be adopted, and which, if adopted, will involve the whole expenditure being incarred over again. On the other hand the Board apparently desires to sanction all connections in accordance with the

As any connection on one system will involve renewal of the expense of connection if the other system should be adopted, His Excellency thinks that, on the whole, the best way out of the immediate difficulty will be to offer no further objection to whatever course the Board may deem expedient, trusting, at the same time, that they will not put either the public or private owners to the expense of connexions under the present system in localities renders it morally certain that the separate system will be adopted. As His Excellency trusts that this letter will be received in the conciliatory apirit which has dictated it, he has given instructions to the Surveyor General to furnish the Sanitary Board, whenever required, in writing with the reasons for his objections.

I have the honour to be Sir your most obedient servant. FREDERICK STEWART. Colonial Becretary. Mr Francis moved that the Board acknowledge with thanks his Excellency's communication. While it was a very proper communication to the Board now, it was very much to be regretted that some similar communication was not made before. If acted upon fully and fairly by the Department it would enable the Board to perform its duty more effectively and then there would be less friction between the departments. It seemed to him an extraordinary state of affairs that on the last occasion the Surveyor General should positively refuse the officers concerned at the different ports to allow certain drains which were sauctioned or ought to have been sanctioned by the Board and should persist in that refusal without stating any reason to the Board. He had not the slightest doubt in the world that if, when such questions came before the Board, the Sanitary Surveyor was in a position to state any good reason whatever why the Board should refuse any particular system of drainage or connection, the Board would give these reaneral (Hon. S. Brown), President; Major- sons the greatest consideration. There was one thing, however, they must consider. Houses were being constructed Cantlie. The Acting Registrar General every day and drains must be constructed and connected at once with existing sewers. If in the interests of senitation the Governtein of drainage, the additional expense of reconnection ought to be borne by the public, in whose interests the change was made, and not by the private individual. If at the last meeting the Surveyor General had been ready to state the reasons given in the Colonial Secretary's letter for condenning the drain with which the connection was proposed, the Board, he was sure, would not have sanctioned the connection. But without any reason being given simply on the ince digit of the Surveyor General, it was impossible for the Board to do otherwise than it did at the last meeting. Speaking on

Mr Ede seconded.

The Surveyor General-Before putting the motion, I would take this opportunity, as President of this Board and as Surveyor General, to state that it is my wish in every way to reciprocate the conciliatory spirit which is evidenced in 23rd I got another telegram handed to me the speech made and the resolution just moved by Mr Francis. I would only make one explanation as regards a matter of fact, When at the last meet ing of the Board I was asked as Surveyor General to state the reason why could not sanction this connection, I did give the reason that the drain was unsuitable for the reception of sewage, and when pressed to explain in detail, I said that if any further explanation were required had not the slightest doubt that if the Board requested the Government to instruct the Surveyor General to make this explanation that their request would be complied with. .The Board then went on to deal with the orders of the day. Mr Francis explained that his motions which were put first on the card, referred to the third item 'Correspondence in connection with the enforcement of the proposed drainage by-laws, and he said they ought to be taken in conaideration therewith. This was agreed to.

THE PEAK DRAINAGE. A long report by Mr Cooper, on the history and present state of drainage in the hill district was read. Mr Francis said he understood from the report that there were only four or five lots which could be connected with present system which were not connected. Mr. Cooper (who was invited to take a seat at the Board) said this was so. On these four lots there were five houses. Mr Ede said he would propose that the owners of these houses should be called on Mr Francis said the Board must first know whether these houses were without sufficient drains.

The Surveyor General said that a report would have to be obtained on that point. Mr Francis said the Sanitary Board must also satisfy itself as to the sufficiency of the main drainage before they exercised their power to compel people to connect with it. Some grievous complaints were made against that system. As at present constituted it was said to, be a public nuisance, and likely to remain so until there was a proper water supply and flushing of the drains. Without investigating this they would only be running the risk of making the nuisances greater by compelling more houses to connect. Dr. Cantlie proposed that they should therefore wait till the deputation appointed at the meeting of Peak residents had laid their case before the Governor. Mr. Francis said he was prepared to second that motion. Some further discussion ensued, in the course of which it transpired that one of the four lots referred to (No. 59) drained into the Pokfulam Reservoir. There was a consensus of opinion that temporary measures: should be taken to stop this at once.

Mr Francis moved 'That the Sanitary Surveyor be requested to report as to what temporary measures can be adopted to preflowing into the Pokfulam gathering ground, and that the Sanitary Surveyor be directed to take the usual steps to have the nuisance abated if any exists.

Mr Ede seconded, and the motion was agree I to. Mr Francis moved that the Secretary of the Board be requested to reply to the Colonial Secretary's letter (enclosing Mr. Ede's communication on the drainage at the Pask), stating that the general question of Peak drainage is under the consideration of the Board. Dr Ho Kai seconded, and the motion was
